

The Night

[Verse 1]

The night, our lady of life, embraces softly my pain.
In the shadow cast by a streetlight,
I pray for silence to guard my soul.

[Pre-Chorus]

And she came, so silent,
and she came, so tender,
and she came — she came.

[Verse 2]

I closed my eyes,
and gathered the scents of the city,
while curled upon myself,
I watched my faces drift in the water.

[Pre-Chorus]

And she came, so silent,
and she came, so tender,
and she came — she came.

[Chorus]

I let her hold me,
in the night I let her stay.
I let her take me,
in the night I drifted away.

[Verse 3]

I cried — that night I cried,
I let my tears be the voice.
I let my fear take over,
I cried — that night I cried.

[Chorus]

I let her hold me,
in the night I let her stay.
I let her take me,
in the night I drifted away.

[Verse 4]

At last, it ended —
the night moved on.
The dawn embraced me,
without breath — she held me close.

[Pre-Chorus]

And she came, so silent,
and she came, so tender,
and she came — she came.

[Chorus]

I let her hold me,
in the night I let her stay.
I let her take me,
in the night I drifted away.
I let her hold me,
in the night I let her stay.
I let her take me,
in the night I went away.
