

The Reflection

[Verse 1]

It moves on,
out of phase.
Form gives way
before the observer.

[Verse 2]

Grains of time
cut in the wind.
Every breath
shifts the field.

[Verse 3]

No signal.
No collapse.
Motion persists.
Energy conserved.

[Chorus]

Distances decay.
Same energy.
Same entropy.
Emerging balance.

[Verse 4]

Coupled states.
Shared phase.
Two bodies,
one field.

[Verse 5]

Two nearby masses.
A single system.
The fluid flows
without direction.

[Chorus]

Distances decay.
Same energy.
Same entropy.
Emerging balance.

[Verse 6]

No before.
No after.
Only states in transition.

A minimal interaction
reshapes the system.
What it touches
is transformed.
The field retains what form cannot.

[Chorus]

Distances decay.
Same energy.
Same entropy.
Emerging balance.

[Outro]

The system settles.
Locally.
Coherence remains as long as interaction lasts.
